Overview

This proposal outlines a short-term, entertainment-led partnership built around the 2026 World Cup. iGaming is a category I do not typically take partnerships in, and I want to be direct about how I will and will not work within it. The content here is designed to be enjoyable and authentic first, with brand awareness for Swoobz delivered through genuine engagement rather than direct-response promotion.

Every deliverable will carry clear paid-partnership disclosure. This engagement is structured as a flat fee. It does not include a referral arrangement, a Community Pot allocation, or any compensation derived from audience losses. Earning fees from an audience's losses is not a model I participate in, and the content will reflect that position openly.

Background

Jeffrey Basa (@BawsaXBT) is a crypto-native creator, live event host, and builder with an audience of 30,000+ on X and over 4 million impressions.

- Live hosting experience across launch programming and on-the-ground activations for audiences of 500+, including hosting for projects through their launch cycles.
- Builder across AI and Web3 (BrandOS, an AI-powered brand-intelligence platform), with the technical fluency to speak credibly to a crypto-native product and audience.
- An audience built on trust rather than promotion. That trust is the core asset this partnership is designed to protect, which is why the terms below are deliberate.

Approach

- Entertainment-led. The content centers on the World Cup and the culture of friendly betting and prediction markets around it, not on driving sign-ups. Swoobz is featured as the platform powering the fun, with awareness delivered through authentic engagement.
- Fully disclosed. Every deliverable clearly states the paid partnership. Disclosed, authentic coverage consistently outperforms promotion that is presented as organic, and it protects both parties.
- Awareness on my turf. The live conversation happens on X, in front of my audience, where Swoobz gets genuine exposure and discussion, without requiring my audience to onboard onto the platform to take part.
- Honest by default. I will not promote the loss-funded mechanics, and I will not present the platform as a financial opportunity. The framing stays on entertainment and the World Cup moment.

Deliverables

- One short-form video. An entertainment-led piece built around my World Cup bets, with Swoobz as the platform powering them. Fully disclosed. This is the centerpiece of the partnership.
- One short-form post. A single post announcing the short-term partnership, in my own voice, with clear disclosure.
- One X Space. A live conversation on X about the World Cup, prediction markets, and betting culture, hosted on my account, with invited guests from the prediction-market and betting space. Swoobz is showcased and discussed for awareness.

Engagement Fee

$3,000

Flat engagement fee

No referral, no Community Pot, no revenue share. Compensation is for the work and the placement only. Never tied to audience losses.

This rate reflects a category I do not typically partner in; the per-deliverable rate is set above my standard to account for the reputational consideration of working in iGaming.

Terms to Confirm

- Disclosure. Clear paid-partnership disclosure on every deliverable. Non-negotiable.
- Usage rights. Content is licensed for organic posting to my own audience only. No paid amplification, boosting, whitelisting, or use of the content as paid advertising to audiences outside my following, without a separate written agreement and additional fee.
- Timing. Deliverables to publish in the first week of July 2026, aligned with the World Cup window. (Open to the late-June soft-launch window if preferred.)
- Eligibility. Partnership is contingent on confirming that the platform is available to my audience, including any geographic eligibility limits, before content goes live.
- Compliance. Both parties confirm the engagement and all content comply with applicable advertising, disclosure, and gaming regulations.
- Exclusivity. None. I retain the right to work with other platforms during and after the term.

If this structure works for the Swoobz team, I'm glad to move forward and lock timing. Happy to adjust scope on the post or the Space if needed. The video and the flat-fee structure are the anchors I'd keep in place.
